

Opinion

by Stephanie Yeagle

View Author Profile

syeagle@ncronline.org

Follow on Twitter at @ncrSLY

Join the Conversation

August 7, 2018

Share on BlueskyShare on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Here's what's new at NCRonline today:

Civil groups lead efforts to reunite children with deported parents

Soul Seeing: Ambition becomes quiet passion for life

Commentary: Better understanding, not apologetics, will best serve 'nones'.

Read the article that this commentary is responding to here: Bishop Barron calls for evangelization, apologetics in upcoming youth synod

Bishop says no cover-up in priest's case but admits lack of transparency

Pittsburgh bishop says report will be 'sad, tragic description' of events

Greensburg Diocese stands ready help to abuse survivors 'in their healing'

Poll suggests religious freedom push is having an effect

At Global Sisters Report:

Incoming LCWR president Sharlet Wagner sees herself as 'citizen of the world'

Q & A with Sr. Mary Faye Hellman, teaching young women in Mayan villages

Column: Two reflections on the LCWR book

Advertisement

In other news around the web:

Arizona clergy call activists to support migrants on border

Brazilians Turn To Evangelical Church In Rural Town Wracked By Drugs And Poverty

Banning Muslim Veils Tends to Backfire — Why Do Countries Keep Doing It?

What does the future hold for France's 'IS children'?