

by Tracy Abeln

View Author Profile
tabeln@ncronline.org

Join the Conversation

February 7, 2019

Share on BlueskyShare on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Our team of copy editors reads and posts most of what you see on the websites for National Catholic Reporter and Global Sisters Report (the NCR project focusing on women religious). The Copy Desk Daily provides insight on recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed our desks on their way to you.

We've received a lot of positive feedback about Soli Salgado's "Nuns and Nones" story from Monday. Part 2 looks at how the union of these two groups — Catholic sisters and millennials in the U.S. — may answer who could inherit the charisms that animate religious life today. The article is full of encouraging news for the church!

Read: Nuns and Nones: A modern religious community

Columnist Amy Morris-Young muses on what aging and, especially as a woman, going with an "aging" hair color, signifies.

Read: The life-changing magic of letting your hair go white

Did you watch the U.S. president's State of the Union Address? "We are creating a crisis," says Sr. Norma Pimentel of Catholic Charities of the Rio Grande Valley.

Read: Moving 'Beyond the Wall': Immigration panel talks moral, practical solutions

Related ... over the past two years, the nation's refugee resettlement system has been slowly dismantled.

Read: Two years after Trump's travel ban, faith-based refugee groups struggle

GSR has a partnership with Catholic Volunteer Network to share blogs from young people serving around the world. These are inspirational and great to share.

Read: I'm learning how to recognize God in the office work

Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter?
Sign up here for news updates by email.

Advertisement