

Opinion

by Mick Forgey

View Author Profile

Join the Conversation

October 29, 2019

Share on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Our team of copy editors reads and posts most of what you see on the websites for National Catholic Reporter and Global Sisters Report (the NCR project focusing on women religious). The Copy Desk Daily highlights recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed our desks on their way to you.

On Catholic women deacons, San Diego's McElroy is 'in favor of it': In an interview Oct. 27, San Diego Bishop Robert McElroy tells NCR that he supports allowing women to serve as deacons.

Jesuit Fr. Thomas Reese weighs in on the synod recommendations for Pope Francis:

Bishops vote for married priests, call developed world to repent for harming Amazon.

Catholic officials trampling on employees' free speech is disturbing:

Marianne Duddy-Burke, executive director of DignityUSA, laments the "alarming increase in the firing or intimidation of people married to same-gender partners who are employed by Catholic educational, health care, and social service institutions." In her commentary, she calls attention to a recent news story out of Indianapolis, which "takes us into frightening new territory."

What would Jesus say about asylum seekers who were sent back to Juárez? Read the latest edition of NCR's Soul Seeing column: Lazarus at our gate.

Review on abuse looks at 70 years' worth of Colorado dioceses' files: Julie

Asher reports, "A final report on the findings of an independent review of clergy abuse cases in Colorado's three Catholic dioceses from 1950 to 2019 shows that 166 children were abused by 43 priests statewide."

Advertisement

*Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter?
Sign up here for news updates by email — including one that will send you Copy Desk Daily every Monday through Friday.*